Dear Yuki,

Hello! Thank you very much for your e-mail! My name is John and I'm sixteen years old. I live in Sydney, Australia. This will be my first visit to a foreign country. I'm very excited to stay with your family. And I can't wait to meet all of you.

I can speak a little Japanese because I have studied it at my school for eleven months. In our Japanese class, there is an event called 'Japan Day' every month. During the event, we enjoy cooking Japanese food, making origami, and playing Japanese traditional sports like sumo and karate. Through these experiences, I have become interested in Japan.

In your e-mail, you wrote about many things about Kochi. The famous festival in Kochi sounds very fun. I really want to join the Yosakoi Festival with you. I want to learn a lot about Kochi and your country.

See you soon,
John

3 次の英文は、ある中学生が英語の授業で「コンビニエンスストア」について自分の考えを書いた英文です。これを読んで、下の1・2の問いに答えなさい。

Do you often go to convenience stores? We see many convenience stores in Japan. There are more than 50,000 convenience stores in Japan. We find them on many streets near stations and schools. I think they are useful. I have three reasons for this.

First, most of the convenience stores are open 24 hours every day. We can buy things there at any time even after other stores are closed. So .

Second, convenience stores are not very big. So . We can buy many kinds of things like food, drink, newspapers, pens, notebooks and even toilet paper in a very short time.

Third, . Most of them have useful machines like copy machines and ATMs. So we can make copies and take out money. Also, we can send and receive packages there.

Today many people use convenience stores to buy things and receive services. They are useful, but I sometimes buy too many things there. I'd like to use convenience stores in a smart way.
